All of our Business undergraduate courses are 4 years, incorporating a year on placement or studying abroad.

Accounting and Financial Management BSc (Hons)

We help students develop the technical accounting and finance skills needed to get a head start in a professional career but we also place accounting firmly in its business context. We offer the opportunity to study a much wider range of subjects than those of the narrow professional syllabuses.

Business Analytics BSc (Hons)

Our course addresses the growing demand for skilled graduates who can use 'big data' to help businesses make better-informed decisions and manage both information and digital innovations to maximise performance.

International Business BSc (Hons)

In today's business world, being international is a necessity. Our degree is a modern-day business course which concentrates on the links between the major business functions and their role in the international business context.

Finance and Management BSc (Hons)

This degree combines rigorous finance theory with general management studies to prepare students for a successful career in financial services or general management.

Marketing and Management BSc (Hons)

This degree combines a rigorous in-depth knowledge of marketing, together with a solid grounding in business and management to prepare students for a wide range of exciting and rewarding career opportunities.

Management BSc (Hons)

A highly flexible, broad-based course that prepares students for a career in any area of business and management. Our graduates are strong communicators, adaptable and resilient to change and highly sought after in the business world.

Myra took the MSc Business Psychology, a programme accredited by the Association for Business Psychology and designed for students wishing to develop a career in business psychology, human resource management or as a business consultant.

Working in HR

It matters, if it matters to you. When I was looking for options, I was interested in learning how I could bring the best out of and from people. That is all I knew that mattered to me. I didn't know what job I wanted to land. I was just focused on what I felt made me, me. I knew that I wanted to choose a uni which had courses without quarterly and annual examinations and a uni which appreciated sports, since that was another element which encompassed who I am. I found Sports Psychology and Business Psychology courses. I reviewed many unis in the UK offering those courses and chose Loughborough for its strong reputation in sports, for its facilities, the campus environment and for the calibre of lecturers. I chose Business Psychology over Sports Psychology because I wanted to allow myself some breathing space in my career trajectory. As an HR professional, what I learnt is not always applied to the T. However, it contributes significantly in ways that I only consciously realise after I reflect on my performance.

In my opinion this is due to the learning and assessment methods Loughborough used; actively engaging in presentations, debates, workshops and assignments allowed for a truly holistic learning... I loved it!

Education

Post 16 A Level Philosophy

BTEC Higher National Diploma in Business

HE BA (Hons) in Business Enterprise at Malta College of Arts, Science and Technology

MSc Business Psychology at Loughborough.

Why did you choose Business Psychology

I was brought up in a business environment; retail specifically. I understood the accounting and operational aspects of the business, but I have always questioned many things about my surroundings and especially when it comes to people. I often enjoy people-watching and was so intrigued with workplace dynamics, performance measurements and all the in-betweens. I guess, the subject fit with my interests and background. I just had more questions and simply wanted to understand the many ways of how they may be answered.

What is Business Psychology?

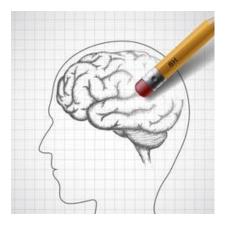

The MSc in Business Psychology is about the concepts that help people understand why people behave the way they do, and what can be done to improve behaviours and performance at work.

Myra's experience as a student

Ah, Loughborough was the best time of my academic years! The course, the group, the campus, the accommodation, the facilities, the sports, the fresh air... honestly I am so glad I chose what was a perfect uni to me. I thoroughly enjoyed studying but I can vouch that the facilities and the lecturers there truly encourage you to be the best version of yourself.

Career

I am grateful to be applying many things that I have learnt from uni and life. I am working in Human Resources and topics such as project planning, operational management, statistics and psychology all come into play. My journey hasn't been always spearheaded for HRM. I had worked as a wedding planner, a coach, a team manager, a salesperson but getting the best out of and from people has always ignited fire within me.

"My advice— You might be thinking about what uni to choose, what subjects to pick and you're also probably trying to figure out what your purpose in life is.

Truth is everyone is chasing that in his/her own way. I would strongly suggest you go easy on yourself, one foot in front of the other. You can do absolutely anything you set your mind to. Think of all the things you enjoy doing and places you like being. Invest in yourself, surround yourself with people who lift you up (and be proud to be picky who you allow in your close circle!), and get ready to put in the work.

The dream can change, that's ok! Just get ready to try things and to put in the work. Nothing worth having comes easy.

Oh and one more thing, which I have learnt along the way ... you can only control what you have control over... perspective and mindset are two of many. They are super powerful... invest in yourself, today and always!"
